Dear Sir,

RE: APPLICATION FOR THE POST OF CIVIC EDUCATION/GOVERNMENT TEACHER

Seeking the opportunity to satisfy the passion for teaching and an avid interest in the development of young people, I hereby apply for the post of Humanities Teacher in your institution.

I am familiar with the contemporary and standard teaching method as well as activity-based learning and hold a Bachelor's of Arts Degree in Yoruba Education from the University of Ilorin, Nigeria, in addition to spending an accumulated period of seven years in full-time positions teaching various subjects including Yoruba and English Language, Social Studies and Civic Education in Primary, and Yoruba Language at both Junior and Senior Secondary Schools as the job requires with exposure to relevant education-based technology. I am equally a Sunday School Teacher in my Church, Deeper Christian Life Ministry.

Driven by the need to help my students achieve their full potential and competence in my subject areas with emphasis on diligence, integrity and discipline, I work to create a dynamic and interesting learning environment in which they can grow with a preference for interesting learning that applies to their lives.

My style of teaching allows for flexibility across a range of subjects, adapting each given curriculum to the needs of my students for maximum impact and steady improvement in the progression of their learning. In addition to a positive attitude and personality, I believe this is the novelty of a teacher and remain important for academic institutions and their students.

Enclosed is my curriculum vitae and other relevant documents for your review. I am confident that you will find me an asset to your institution.

Thank you for taking the time to consider my application. I look forward to further discussing this opportunity with you at an interview.
